Building a net-zero community

[Luanne Lim] Rehabilitation buses have been serving Hong Kong for more than 40 years. There are more than 1,000 rehab buses in the city. Like HSBC, they are a big part of the community.

The Green Rehabus project is a good example to show that we can all contribute to achieving net-zero, regardless of our background, age, and body condition.

[Chung Shan-shan] We are honoured to get the support from The Hongkong Bank Foundation.

This funding allows us to purchase all seven rehabilitation buses in different models.

[Tse Chin-wan] Here I would like to thank the Conservancy Association, HSBC, other supporting companies and organisations.

This Green Rehabus might look like a small step, but it is in fact an important step forward.
